

Xpand IT develops the 1st Welding Dictionary App

Xpand IT in collaboration with EWF - European Welding Federation, developed the first dictionary / translator specific to the welding industry. This App contains over 150 technical terms and is available for iPhone

With this last release, the European Federation for Welding, Joining and Cutting developed the first technical dictionary in this area of activity. The App Welding Dictionary contains about 150 different terms in 12 languages and includes descriptions, images, or video clips, and may perform translations of technical terms in various languages. This version will cost € 1.59 and just and will be available for the iOS operating system. This application was created by EWF - European Welding Federation and having been developed by Xpand IT.

This tool is for everyone interested in welding, from the curious learner to the welding professional. Apart from the features mentioned this App has constant updates (terms, videos, photos and languages); offline access - no Internet connection needed for the written content; History function - it keeps track of the last terms the user has searched. The terms were divided into 6 different modules to increase usability. The division is: Processes, Equipment, Consumables, Techniques, Materials and Other.

This paid application was published at the end of August and is available in the App Store, where you can view detailed information and download. Xpand IT as leader in mobile applications development, with more than 60 apps in the App Store and Google Play, has been an exponential growth in this business area. Having developed several mobile applications to reference customers in various sectors of activity, Xpand IT believes that in coming years this area will grow much more.
