

Xpand IT implements SOA Strategy at Cetelem

Cetelem has implemented a SOA strategy using Red Hat / JBoss Enterprise Middleware solutions. The strategic plan proposed by Xpand IT led to reduced costs and increased organization productivity by integrating critical business processes.

Xpand IT – global company specialized in enterprise middleware and Cetelem – leader in the private loans market in Europe, announce a successful SOA Strategy implementation using Red Hat / JBoss Enterprise Middleware. Xpand IT developed a strategic plan and its implementation, allowing Cetelem to achieve benefits such as: cost reduction, productivity and business agility by integrating critical business processes.

From the several options available in the market, Xpand IT proposed a Service Oriented Architecture, with governance and a methodic development approach to solve the dispersion of technical systems, simplifying interactions and restructuring Cetelem Business Processes. The choice was JBoss SOA platform to reach the business objectives and reduce implementation & maintenance costs. The solution allowed a larger flexibility in changing or adapting applications according to the business needs. Now it is simpler to incorporate new technologies, departments and partner organizations.

With over 2 years of SOA strategy successful implementation, Cetelem reduced its risk and controlled dependencies, minimizing the impact of change. "Xpand IT is our proven strategic partner. With a strategic plan focused on our needs, we achieved the next level of SOA maturity. Now, we have reached high levels of business agility and reduced costs through business efficiency." - Carlos Cruz, IT Manager at Cetelem.
